Executive Summary

AV stands for "Audio-Visual." It refers to materials or equipment that use both sound and visual components, such as videos, presentations, or multimedia devices.

Explanation

- "Audio" means sound, and "Visual" means sight or images.
- AV is commonly used in education, entertainment, and communication to describe tools like projectors, speakers, videos, and slideshows.
- AV equipment helps deliver information through both hearing and seeing, making it easier to understand and engage with content.
- In some contexts, AV can also refer to "Adult Video," but generally, it means audio-visual content or technology.

If you want, I can explain AV in a specific field or context.
